I grew my communication skills. I am more confident now after participating in DLLE. I was somewhere a helping hand for people. The seminar regarding road safety was all new to me. I came across road safety rules. Which need to be known to everybody. Those rules are not only for the person who drives the two wheelers or three wheelers, those are meant for pedestrians also. Many more activities and seminars were held and all were informative and productive.

- Please write about the difficulties you faced while conducting activities.

Answer: One of the significant challenges I encountered was maintaining activities on schedule due to delayed information reaching us in a timely manner. This posed difficulties in coordinating and planning, leading to missed deadlines and disrupted schedules.

- How did you overcome the difficulties?

Answer: To address this issue, we initiated efforts to streamline our communication channels, ensuring prompt and efficient dissemination of information among all. This enhancement in communication facilitated better coordination and enabled us to execute activities in a timely manner.

- Please write about your expectations from extension work activities.

Answer: I was expecting more practical activities and a greater number of them in DLLE. Practical activities, where we can apply what we learn in real life, are very helpful for learning. Doing more of these activities will help us understand better and learn more skills. Also, having a variety of activities more often would be great because it exposes us to different things and makes learning more interesting.

- Are your expectations fulfilled? Please brief.

Answer: Some of my expectations from DLLE were met through the activities offered, but I was hoping for more. While I found the activities helpful, I thought there could be a greater variety and more of them. Even though I gained value from the activities I took part in, I believe that having more practical exercises and covering a wider range of topics would have made my learning experience even better.

Hunger and poverty

Poverty is akin to being a slave, as a person cannot achieve anything he desires. It has various faces that alter depending on who you are, where you are, and when. It can be defined in various ways depending on how a person feels or experiences it. Poverty is a state that no one wants to be, but it must be removed owing to cultural norms, natural disasters, or a lack of adequate education. The individual who is experiencing it frequently wishes to flee. It's a problem that goes unnoticed yet significantly impacts a person's social life. Poverty is an entirely avoidable problem, but there are various reasons why it has persisted in the past. Poverty robs people of their freedom, mental health, physical well-being, and security. Everyone must strive to eradicate poverty from the country and the world, ensuring appropriate physical and mental health, full literacy, a home for all, and other necessities for living a simple life.
